

H

ḥabābu s. hapāpu

+ ḥabāqu (mng. uncert.) s. habiqtu

D MA ha-bi-i-qa BATSH 4/13 23, s. Cancik-Kirschbaum 1996, 110.

ḥabāru I “to be thick, solid”

G kēm qibūtī el qibūtika lū ha-ab-ra-at RA 36, 10 “so that my word may be stronger than yours” (cit. CAD A/2 167b s.v. apāru). S. also kariktu for hu-bu-ur in ARM 33, 235 r. 16. JW

+ ḥab/pāru III “to block off(?, said of water in a weir); OB karkāt ēkallim ḥu-Bu-ur ARM 26/2, 380 no. 455 r. 16 = ARM 33, 490 no. 235 “and block off(?) the weirs of the palace”, s. kiriktu. Heimpel 2003, 376 considers a variant of kabāru, but in the D the expected form would be kubbir. Durand in ARM 33, 490 opts for ḥabāru I “to thicken”. This word, however, is hitherto not attested with a transitive mng. in the G-stem.

+ ḥabāsu? “to bind, bandage”; OB

OB lit. ha-ab-sa-ši-im UET 6/3, 889 ii 5. Cf. Hebr. HBŠ “to bind”, s. Streck/Wasserman 2012, 199.

ḥabību “murmuring, twittering”

1. OB lit. ina pīšina ul pa₁₂-ri-is ḥa! (text: ZA)-bi-bi ākilāt karṣiya! ul i'addarā m[uši] u urri CUSAS 10, 9: 29–31 “Her gossip concerning me was not cut off from their (the women's) mouth. They who slander me have no fear by night and day”.

2. ha-bi-bi UET 7, 73 iv 151 (Sg. letter, Westenholz 1997, 148ff.), between lilā i' “a singer/musician” and LÚ.GI.DI.DA.A “malīlu-flutist”.

ḥābilu I “evildoer”

1. OB lit. rāmī ša šēri ḥa-bi-i-lu literrūnimma AOAT 267, 192 i 11f. “my love of the steppe, may the robbers return (him) back to me!”

2. MB lit. [h]a-bi-li-iš dādīka lumšuh ALL no. 11: 2 “I want to plunder your attractiveness like a [ro]bber”.

ḥābilu II “trapper”; +OB

OB ḥa-[b]i-li UET 7, 73 iv 167 (Sg. letter, Westenholz 1997, 148ff.) “trappers”. Cf. Sjöberg 1996a, 121 and 138 (followed by entries denoting hunters).

+ ḥabiqtu (mgn. uncert.), cf. ḥabāqu

MA ha-bi-iq-te BATSH 4/1, 19: 6'. [ha]-bi-iq-te ib. 19: 12'. ha-bi-iq-tīl ib. 7: 19".

S. Cancik-Kirschbaum 1996, 128.

ḥabṣūtu “joy”

On KBo. 1, 51 ii 18, quoted in AHw 305 under ḥabṣūtu, s. ḥabṣūtu. Both words are correctly distinguished in CAD H 18.

ḥabš/sūtu “part of a sheep's stomach, reticulum(?); + OB

1. OB lit. ha-ab-šu-tum Fs. Geller 133 ii 11 ((list of sheep body parts, between riqītum “omasum” and kukkudru “abomasum”).
2. SB hab-šu-tum pī karši K. 3978+ iii 62 // 62 // K. 3667+ iii 12, quoted Cohen 2018, 142 “h. is the reticulum(? lit. mouth of the stomach)”.
3. SB ha-ab-sú-[tu] KBo. 1, 51 ii 18 (after riqītu “omasum”), quoted in CAD H under habšūtu and in AHw 305 under habṣūtu.
4. Cf. Cohen 2018, 142–144.

ḥabu s. ha’u

+ ḥabūratu (?) “noise (?); Ur III

cf. hubūru

2 [gurus] šidim 3 guruš é ha-bu-ra-tum é-mušen-na dù-dè gub-ba CUSAS 3, 9: 25 “2 builders (and) 3 workmen employed to construct the house of noise (?), the bird house”. Heimpel, CUSAS 5, 167 connects h. with ḥabāru I “to make noise”, which would be “surely descriptive of the facility”. Kleinerman/Owen, CUSAS 4, 46 and 680, however, interprets h. as a PN.

NR

ḥadū “to be(come) happy“

OB lit. u lumnu uhtalliq[ši?] ha-du-ú uddappir ZA 110, 40 i 38 “and evil made (it) disappear, happiness was driven away”.

ḥādū “rejoicing”; + OB

OB lit. ha-di mīšārim Westenholz 1997, 198: 66; 200: 68 „who rejoices over justice“.

ḥahhu II “plum (the tree and its fruit)”

NA (boxes of) gīšha-ah-hi SAA 11, 85: 5.

Disc.: The mng. “plum” (AHw. 308) is based on etym. comparison with Aram. ḥōḥ, Arab. ḥauḥ. Postgate 1987, 129f., points out that the latter means “peach” in modern Egyptian and Iraqi, but the fruit was probably not introduced in Mesopotamia prior to the Achaemenid era.
JW

ḥakāmu “to understand”

D OB lit. eqelki hu-uk-ku-um CUSAS 10, 10: 39 “your field is all too well known” (sexual metaphor), s. George, ib. p. 65.

+ ḥa-al? “valley(?)”; LB, Aram. lw.

1 GAR NUMUN [LU] šá ha-al FS W. G. Lambert 175, 21A: 11 “1 GAR of...seed from a valley(?)”. Finkel id. 177 sub 2, 11 tentatively connects ha-al with Aram. hyl', hylt' “valley”.
NR

ḥalālu II “to pipe, murmur”

OB lit. mūka ha-li-lu JAOS 103, 26f.: 39 “your water is murmuring”.

ḥalāṣu “to press, squeeze”

OB lit. lu-uh-ta-al-ṣa ṣūhiš ina majjālim kilallāni YOS 11, 24 i 22 “let us(?) joyfully press to each other(?) on the bed”.

+ ḥalbānātu “an aromatic”; NB, WSem. lw.

s. hilabānu (CAD H 184a, AHw 345a) and hilbanītu* (CAD H 185)

hal-ba-[] CT 55, 25;

šim^ḥ*hal-la-ba-na-a-tú* BM 74485;

šim^ḥ*hal-la'-ban'!(?)-n[a'-a-tú]* CT 55, 385;

giš.šim^ḥ*hal-la-bi-na-a-tú*^{meš} NBC 4547;

šim^ḥ*hal-ba-na-a-tú* BM 75944;

[ši]m^ḥ*[ha]-[lil]-ba-nu-a-tu*₄ BM 73335;

šim^ḥ*ha-la-ba-n[a-tú]* YBC 4173;

šim^ḥ*ha-la-bu-na-tu*₄ Iraq 59 no. 40.

(all refs. from adm. texts from the Eanna (Uruk) and Ebabbar (Sippar) archives, s. Jursa 2009, 155f.)

The two last spellings with the first sign ḥA demonstrate clearly that the sign ḥAL in the other references must be read as hal and not as a logogram šimBULUḤ for baluhhu. Other spellings of this word show that halbānātu was etymologized by Babylonian scribes as ḥīlu “resin” in combination with abnu “stone” or in combination with the adjectives banū “beautiful” and ablu “dry” (s. Jursa 2009, 155f.): A.KAL(-)ab-na-a-a-tú (BM 54060 ii 5’); šim^ḥ*hi-li(-)ab-na-[a-a-tú]* (NCBT 682); [ši]m^ḥ*hi-i-lu(-)ba-na-a-ta* (GCCI 2, 258: 3); [A.]KAL(-)*la(-)ba-na-a-a-tu*₄ (NCBT 796); A.KAL(-)ab-la-a-ti (PTS 2112); šimA.KAL(-)ab-la-a-ta (UCP 9/2, 27); *hi-li(-)ab-la-a-tu*₄ (GCCI 2, 358). For the reference GCCI 2, 258: 3 s. already CAD H 185 s. v. hilbanītu*., where the popular etymology was already recognized.

After Jursa 2009, 155 halbānātu is a West Semitic loanword, which is known in Hebrew as ḥelbənā and in Syriac as ḥelbānītā, both mean “galbanum”. Despite the etymology, it is not provable that Akkadian halbānātu means “galbanum”, namely gum resin from Ferula Galbaniflua (Jursa 2009, 156). In this sense, it is noteworthy that baluhhu, which was identified with greater certainty as galbanum, does not occur in the New Babylonian texts about aromatics from Sippar and Uruk: perhaps halbānātu has replaced it in these texts (Jursa 2009, 156).

NR

+ ḥallapunu “an aromatic”; LB

4 GÍN hal-la-pu-un-na FS W. G. Lambert 188, 31: 9’ (list of aromatics). After Finkel id. ḥ. could be a var. of ḥaltappānu. S., however, also ḥalbānātu above.

NR

+ ḥallu V; OB

s. pisannu

ḥalpû “frost, freezing”

OB lit. ul ašhan ina ḥal-pi-ma addī iṣik[a] Iraq 81, 242: 12 “I did not get warm in the cold, so I threw you[r] wood (into the fire)”.

TS

ḥalṣūtu s. birtūtu

ḥalû I “wool; woolen garment”

1. Ur III tūg^ḥ*ha-la-um* [ū] zi-lí-ḥi 3-kam-ūs CUSAS 3, 811: 3. Note also tūg^ḥ*ha-la* CUSAS 3, 690: 2 and tūg^ḥ*hu-la-um* CUSAS 3, 738: 6.

2. OB tūg^ḥ*ha-li šiknim ša* gišNĀ ša 2 panūšu ARM 30, 39 T.473: 1–3 “woolen blanket for a bed, double-sided” s. ib. for add. refs. S. AHw. 1558b s.v. ḥališknum. Durand 2009, 40 considers also the possibility to read TÚG(šubāt) halī šik-num with šiknum as an apposition by analogy with an OA passage 2 TÚG ku-sí-a-tum ší-ik-nu-um.

S. also bttu II for another attestation of halī šiknim.

NR

ḥamāmu “to gather”

SB niklāti kalāma ha-mi-im karassu ORA 7, 318: 14 “his mind gathers all artful things”.

+ ḥamānirru “an insect”; SB

1. [pug]gula ha-ma-a-ni-ir[ru? ... at]tabi nibissu Jiménez 2017, 304: 11 “[I] hereby call its name [str]ong ḥ.’ ha-ma-ni-ra ib. 304: 13; 306: 29, 32; 308: 45.

2. Disc. Jiménez 2017, 322f.

ḥamāṭu II “to hasten”

Š S. ḥamāṭu III Š.

ḥamāṭu III “to burn”

Š 1. SB marmāhu ina libbiya upuntašu ušnammar ārir ana paššūr ilī u šarri ú-šah-ma-ṭu gināšu Jiménez 2017, 250: 24 “using me, the m.-priest makes splendid his flour offering. The miller(?) makes glowing his regular offering for the table of the gods and the king”. The parallel ušnammar : ušahmaṭ makes probable that ušahmaṭ derives from hamāṭu III rather than from ḥamāṭu II “to hasten”. This is probably also true for other ref. of ḥamāṭu Š with obj. offering listed in the dictionaries under ḥamāṭu II.

2. ú-šah-maṭ gin[âya] ib. 252: 34 (manuscript c) “I make glowing [my] regular off[ering]”.

ḥamīmu, + ḥamāmu “an aromatic plant”; MA, + NB, SB

NB ḥamāmu BM 63426 (Jursa 2009, 159). Compare this form with Aramaic hmāmā. The identification with Amomum (AHw 317a; CDA 104a) should be probably abandoned (CAD H 66b; Jursa 2009, 159f. with further literature).

NR

ḥamiš, fem. ḥamšat, ḥamšet “five”

OB lit. erbēt šār u ha-am-ši-[et] CUSAS 10, 12: 20f. “four eons and five”.

ḥammā’u “rebel”

OB lit. [ūtellēl] elī gipši ha-[am-ma-i] dan^{an}-na-at TIM 9, 41: 35 “[the kingship] of KN) is raised above the mass of the rebels, it is strong”.

ḥammu, fem. ḥammatu “family head”

OB lit. (Ištar) ha-ma-at/ta!? ṣi-ru[-tim] CUSAS 10, 13: 2’ “head(?) of sup[remacy]”.

ḥam/nṭussu “swiftly, hastily”

AHw 319 ḥam/nṭūtu.

SB [ti ‘ām]at gal-la-at abā’i ha-am-tu-ut-su Jiménez 2017, 170 Ic 30 “I (poplar) swiftly cross the rolling [se]a”.

ḥamû II “to paralyze”; + OB

OB lit. u māram ša ina bīt abim hu-um-mu-ú iššar šarrum ZA 110, 42 ii 16 “and the king will provide for the son who is a cripple in (his) father’s house”.

ḥanābu “to flourish”

Gtn s. muḥtanbu.

ḥanāqu “to strangle”

G OB (the lion) ka-ni-iq zayyer PN MARI 3, 46 no. 3: 3 “who strangles the foe of PN” (s. Charpin, NABU 1993/112).

Dt 1. OB uh-ta-an-na-aq ūlū ellīma ištū ūrim amaqqut AbB 14, 149: 32 “I will hang myself or else I will go up and throw myself from the roof top”.

2. OB uh-ta-na-aq ūlū GÍR ZABAR ana lib[biya] amahhaṣ ARM 33, 102 r. 7 “I will hang myself or stab my heart with a dagger”

JW

+ ḥandalatu (mng. uncl.); Ug., WSem. lw.

SÍG.ZA.GÌN haš-ma-na SÍG.ZA.GÌN : ha-an-da-la-ti ù SÍG.ZA.GÌN : DU-pa-aš-ši ù NA₄ ga-bi ma-’a-di-iš NIN?-ya li-še-bi-la Ug. 5, 48: 9 “may my lady(?) send me a great deal of hašmanu-colored blue wool, ḥandalātu-type blue wool, dupašši-type blue wool, and alum” (cit. CAD U 194 s.v. uqnātu). Sivan 1984, 226 interprets ḥandalatu as “purple wool”. Van Soldt 1990, 337 considers ḥandalatu as an unidentified wool color. S. also Olmo Lete / Sanmartín, who translate alphabetic *ḥndl*t as “type or color of cloth”. Compare with Hittite (^(sig)ḥantala- “ein Wolltuch, das vielleicht auch als Kleidungsstück getragen werden kann” (Friedrich / Kammenhuber 1998, 168)).

NR

ḥandūḥu s. kantuhhu and ḥidduhhu

ḥapādu, + qapādu “to be(come) blind”

D 1. MA PNf ummušunu ḥap-pu-da-at iškāra lā teppaš aklī lā takkal BATSH 18, 3: 4 “PN, their mother, is blind; she does not do work, she does not eat bread”, also in 6: 4.

2. MA var. qapādu: PNf ummušunu qa-pu-da-at BATSH 18, 12: 56 “PN, their mother, she is blind”, also 42: 27 and possibly in 43: 2“.

Disc.: Salah (ib.) reads habbudat/qabbudat and considers both variants of kabātu, which is rejected by de Ridder 2018, 132f. S. ib. for the interchange of /h/ and /q/ in MA. Freydank apud BATSH 18, 76 n. 592 suggests a reading (ḥ)abbuṭat from ebēṭu.

JK/JW

ḥapāpu, ḥabābu “to murmur, whisper, twitter”

OB lit. ibaššī rāmum elī nišī i-[ḥa]l-ap-pu-up rāmum li-ih-pu-pa-am ina [ṣērial] CUSAS 10, 11: 5f. “love came into being, whispering over the people. May love whisper above me.”

George, CUSAS 10 p. 70, derives the word from a root *HBB “to love” and mentions further ref. However, all the instances of this alleged verb either can be derived from the onomatopoeic verb listed in AHw. 301 as ḥabābu “murmeln, zirpen, zwitschern” or belong to hapāpu, a variant of hepū (AHw. 321 hapāpu I 321 “zerschlagen”). S. also ḥabību for which a meaning “murmuring, twittering” fits the context better than a meaning “love”. Finally, the variant hapāpu with p instead of b can be more easily explained when the verb is onomatopoeic rather than etymologically connected to *HBB.

ḥapātu “to overcome”

G OB lit. ih-pí-ta VS 10, 213 i 1.

+ Gtn hi-ta-pu-ut elīja YOS 11, 24 i 3 “he keeps overcoming me”.

+ ḥarāmu III (mng. uncert.); Emar

[x] q]aqqada liṣBirmi [l]ū ta-ah-ru-um-mi [DUMU^{meš}] ša ullađu [DUMU^{meš}]-ia šu-nu-mi AulaOr. 5, 13: 10.

Arnaud 1987, 233, note 31 connects this form with the West Semitic root hry “to be pregnant”. However, this does not explain the writing of the double -mm-. Pentiu 2001, 176f. relates this form to the West Semitic root hrm “to put aside, forbid, consecrate” (s. Hebrew hāram (Hiph.) “to ban, devote”; Arabic harama II “to declare inviolable”) and translates the lines 10-12 as “She [surel]y declared (vowed): [The sons] whom I will bear, they (will be) my [sons]”.

This interpretation conflicts, however, with the grammar and the context of the passage. The form [lu]-ú ta-ah-ru-um-mi is the part of the direct speech (lines 4-14) with the marker of the direct speech -mi. The whole speech belongs to Aḥu-tāb. In the lines 4-8 he declares his daughter Alnašuwa as “man and woman”, i.e. heiress, which must “invoke his gods and his dead” (for this practice, s. van der Toorn 1994, 44; Yamada 1995, 306). In the lines 11-12 Aḥu-tāb nominates the sons of Alnašuwa who may be born in the future, as his sons (for this passage s. e.g. Bellotto 2002, 138). There are two lines between these declarations, [(x) q]a-qa-dá li-iṣ-BI-ir-mi / [lu]-ú ta-ah-ru-um-mi, which remain unclear. It seems, though, that the topic of these lines could be the marriage of Alnašuwa due to the fact that the next passage reports about the birth of her children (s. already Arnaud 1987, 233, note 31). With Arnaud one could understand [(x) q]a-qa-dá li-iṣ-BI-ir-mi as “may she dress / decorate (her) head” (s. CAD sepēru 132f.), that can denote her status change from unmarried to married. [lu]-ú ta-ah-ru-um-mi, which seems to be precative 3 f. sg. too (for possible precative forms in Emar s. Seminara 1998, 401), could be understood as a synonym to li-iṣ-BI-ir-mi with q]a-qa-dá again as an object. Unfortunately, the Akkadian verb ḥarāmu/arāmu “to cover” (CAD A/2, 228, especially 1b: “to cover the body or a part of the body”), which would fit well the context, belongs to the vowel class i/i.

NR

ḥarāru “to dig”; D “to tuft, to trim (?)”

G OB eqlam a-ka-ar-r[a-a]r erriš AbB 13, 150 r. 15 “I will hoe the field and seed it”; ana ka-ra-ri-im lā tanaddin ib. 17 “do not hand it (out) for hoeing!”

D a step during textile production: 1. OB neşüm u ḥu-ru-rum Syria 59, 129–149 §d and pass. “(4 days) for scraping (?) and tufting (?)”. S. Lackenbacher 1982b, 142; Durand 2009, 42 (cf. túg^{tūg}arrūru AbB 7, 112: 17?).

S. also tahrīru.

JW (G), NR (D)

ḥarāsu “a skin disease”

Refs. s. Stol 2007, 235.

+ ḥarbazinnānu “a bird”

OB ha-ba-ar-zi-na-nu-um Edubba'a 7, 100: 41 (in list of birds).

ḥardu “wakeful”; + OB

OB lit. har-du u āriru ... iggeltām CUSAS 10, 8: 19f. “wakeful and trembling, ... I(!) awoke”.

ḥasānu s. ḥaṣānu

ḥaṣābu “to break off”

OB lit. in transf. mng.: hu-uṣ-bi ezbī CUSAS 10, 10: 9 “break off, leave!”

haṣānu “to shelter”; + OB

OB lit. [u] šumma ina damq[ātim] abu lā iḥ-si-nam-ma m[ārāšū] matī mārum ina namraṣ[im] abāšu li-iḥ-si-[in] ZA 110, 53 ii 2, 4 “and if a father did/does not shelter [his] s[on] in go[od times], when would a son shelter his father during suffering?” Note the spelling of the second radical with SI, which stands for deaffricated [s], whereas the affricate /s/ is written ZI = sí in the text: sí-ik-ka-nim 32, la-ma-(as-)sí i 9, 14.

haṣibaru “a bird”

OB [ha!]l-ṣí-ba-ru-um^{muṣen} Edubba'a 7, 100: 39 (in list of birds). Black/Al-Rawi 1987, 124 read i-zi-KU-ru-um, Al-Rawi/Dalley 2000, 106 [il]-ṣí-ba!-ru-um.

haṣāšu I “to rejoice”

G OB lit. li-iḥ-šu-[šu]l pānūki! kīma rīmti[m] CUSAS 10, 11: 9 “may your face rejoice as a wild cow”. li-iḥ-šu-ša kabtataki ZA 75, 200: 34 “may your liver rejoice”.

Gtn AHw. BE 40294 = MIO 12, 52f.: 12’.

haṣbūru “apple”

OB kīma ha-aš-ḥu-ri-im ša simānim! ša ip-pān šattim itbuku inibšu ibā'um[a] birqu ša Adad ina ṣērišu mā ibtā birqum ša ḥātim elīya ALL no. 1 i 8–13 “Like an apple tree of the appropriate time, which heaped up its fruit (and) the lightning of Adad swept over it, (thus,) indeed, the lightning of love-making swept over (me).”

hašū III “a spice plant: thyme?”, Ur III

Ur III ha-šu-um CUSAS 3, 548: 14 (list of ingredients for beer). With Sallaberger, CUSAS 6, 357, other Ur III texts write ha-ši/šu-a-núm (CAD H 138).

NR

hatātu s. huttutu

+ hattārītu “‘the bobbing one’, name of a bird”

OB ha-ta-ri-tum! Edubba'a 7, 100: 59 (in list of birds). Cf. hatāru “wippend gehen” (said of a falcon) AHw. 336 and hattārū “wippend gehend?” ib. Black/Al-Rawi 1987, 124 read -lum, Al-Rawi/Dalley 2000, 106 -lum/kum?

hatāpu, hetēpu “to pour out, to shed”

G 1. a) SB [n]assu anhu i-he-et-ṭi-ip dimtu [aššu]m? niklātu amēluttu di-ma-ta-am-ma i-he-et-ṭi-ip ORA 7, 318: 23f. “he sheds a tear, [becau]se of the trickery of mankind he sheds a tear” (parallel to ibakki “he weeps” l. 22). Cf. Hecker 2013, 92.

b) SB [aššum] qabāt lemuttašu i-he-et-ṭi-ip di-im-ti ORA 7, 318: 26 “[because] his evil was ordered he sheds a tear” (parallel to ibakki l. 25).

2. Lex. ha-ta-pu ša še'i (AHw 336, CAD H 152) “to pour out, of grain(?)”.

D OB lit. di-ma-tu-uš! hu-ṭū-pa-at UET 6, 396: 23 “her tear was shed”. Cf. already AHw 1580 (wrong as hu-ṭū-pa).

Disc.: It remains unclear whether the etym. of AHw 336 “he., aram., ar. ḥtp wegnehmen” is correct.

hatṭu II “stick”

SB ina gišPA-ia//haṭ-t[i-ia] ša lā māgiri inatțū zumuršu Jiménez 2017, 168 Ic 12 “with my (the poplar’s) stick they beat the body of the disobedient”.

ha’u, habu “a throne cover; textile”; Ur III, SB

Ur III 1 ^{tūg}ha-um ^{giš}GU.ZA URI₅^{ki} 3-KAM.ÚS CUSAS 3, 631: 3 “3rd quality h. fabric for the throne of Ur”; 1 ^{tūg}ha-bu-um 3-KAM.ÚS ^{giš}GU.ZA URI₅^{ki}-ma CUSAS 3, 821: 5; 1 ^{tūg}ha-um a-gi₄-um PN CUSAS 3, 581: 1. S. CUSAS 4, 77f. for further ref.

NR

hayru s. dâku.

hazannu I, SB azannu, + hazu’annu “an alliaceous vegetable”; + OA

1. For hazu’annu as OA form of hazannu s. Farber 1991, 237.

2. OA a-da-aḥ-ší u 4 me’at kipunannī u ha-z[u-a-ni] ina ḥuršiānim aknukma “I have sealed a-plants and 400 k-items and h-plants in a package” I 429 (ZA 81, 236; s. also var. ha-zu-a-NUM in dupl. OIP 27, 55: 33 // TC 3, 159).

Note that addahšī and hazuannī occur in two Hitt. texts too as AN.DAH.ŠUM.SAR and ha-az-zu-wa-ni-iš.

NR

hazannu II “mayor”

Note the unusual spelling ha-za-nu-um in Ur III (usually written ha-za-nūm), which occurs only in NRVN 57: 11 and in Garšana (CUSAS 4, 14). Note also the usual spelling ha-za-nūm in Garšana (CUSAS 6, 263). S. also Sallaberger, CUSAS 6, 357.

NR

hazzu “goat”; OB

me-ra-am u ha-az-za-am ú-zi-zu-ni-im-ma me-ra-am u ha-az-za-am ina puluhti bēliya ul amgur MARI 7, 186 A.1056: 7f. “they provided (izuzzum Š) a puppy and a goat, but out of respect for my lord, I did not accept the puppy or the goat”.

S. also kazzu.

JW

hazu’annu s. hazannu I

h̄erebu s. āribu

hepū II “to break”

G Ug. [i]h-pa-an-ni ORA 7, 210: 36’ “he broke me”.

h̄i’āqu “to mix”

+ Š SB ina qū Šamši ina paššūr ilī uš-[ha-qal] ušrātu Jiménez 2017, 252: 34 “in the cup of Šamaš, on the table of the gods, I (vine) mix the tithe”.

h̄i’ātu “to supervise, check”

G OB lit. bārī libbi mimma šumšu ša šumam nabū ha-hi/i-it (// igi niğin) ajabba! elītim u šaplītim CT 58, 28: 2 “who inspects the heart of everything that has been given a name, who examines the upper and the lower sea”.

D NA ú-ha-a-a-a-ṭa! la ke-nu-ti SAA 9, 2 ii 32 “I will search out the disloyal ones”, s. comm. of S. Parpolo, ib. p. 16.

+ ḥidduhū

The Nuzi refs. and BE 14, 123a: 8 cit. AHw./CAD s.v. handūru belong here. S. the disc. by van Koppen 2001, 220 and s.v. kantuhū.

JW

ḥilṣu I “filtration; filtered oil”

CAD hilṣu A a. hilṣu B; AHw hilṣu I

1. Ug. NIN-ú-a šám-na gi-il-[ṣal] (g = h) [ni?] ú?(text sa)-ra-ha-PI-ni “my sisters sprinkle pressed oil on me” ORA 7, 208: 12’.
2. Bongenaar 1997, 267 doubts the interpretation of hilṣu as “a cleaning (or pressing) process performed on sesame seeds” and considers hilṣu in the texts from the Ebabbar archive in Sippar as “perfume or incense, or the ceremony for which that perfume/incense was used”: ŠIM.HI.A šá šam-ni GAL-ú šá hi-il-ṣu šá ^dGAŠAN Sip-par^{ki} šá UD.8.KAM šá ITI.KIN ru-qu-ú (BM 74485 (= Bertin 1816)) “aromatics for the preparation of the rabû-oil for the hilṣu of Šarrat-Sippar on the eighth day of Elūlu”.

Note that hilṣu occurs only in context with the goddess Šarrat-Sippar and was performed (or made) on special days. For one hilṣu were required 6 l. of sesam oil and many different aromatics or herbs (Bongenaar 1997, 267).

MPS (1), NR (2)

ḥīlu “labor pain”; + OB

1. OB lit. hi-lum ay ibīt ina libbiki BiOr. 75, 13: 3 “the labor pain shall not stay in your belly”.
2. OB lit. hi-il-ki lū bā’īt ib. 8 “may your labor pain pass”.
3. Note the sg.; hence the word is not plurale tantum (pace AHw, CAD).

ḥimmatu “collection”

- 1) OB lit. hi-im-ma-at parṣī RA 86, 81: 7, cf. imittu.
- 2) OB lit. kullat hi-[im]-ma-[tim] RA 86, 81: 10 “all of (them) together”.

ḥimṣu II “fatty tissue around the intestines”

OB lit. hi-im-ṣum Fs. Geller 133 iii 4 (list of sheep body parts).

ḥinnu “cabin”; OB, SB lex.

1. OB arkus hi-in-ni-ša elēnūm u šaplūm Finkel 2014: 17 “I constructed her (the ship’s) cabins”; 1 ŠU.ŠI ESIR ana hi-in-ni-ša aš[t]apak ib. 20 “I poured out 60 (measures of) bitumen onto her (the ship’s) cabins”.
2. ša gišÉ.MÀ UET 7, 73 i 30 “the one (in charge) of the boat cabin” (Sg. letter Westenholz 1997, 148ff.) Cf. Sjöberg 1996a, 117.

ḥiṭṭatu “excavation”

bītu hiṭṭātu “plot covered with pits”: this expression occurs in two NB contracts, VS 4, 98 and VS 5, 79, concerning the sale of building plots in the city (s. already CAD H 210 “excavation lot”). The price of bītu hiṭṭātu is comparable with the price of kišubbu “unbuilt plot” (actually bītu hiṭṭātu in VS 4, 98 is even cheaper than kišubbu in BM21938). Kolinski / Paszkowiak-Wojciechowska 2006, 84f., no. 83 argue, that bītu hiṭṭātu is a plot covered with pits, which served as a source of clay for replastering of the houses. Such a plot could be turned into a building plot. This interpretation seems more plausible than “excavation lot”, since, after Kolinski / Paszkowiak-Wojciechowska 2006, 84, “there is no archaeological evidence for setting foundations in trenches for construction of private houses in this period”.

NR

ḥīṭu “sin”

S. Stol 2007, 236 on Enūma Anu Enlil I.

ḥū’ā s. huya’u

ḥubbû “cultic dancer”

OB ḥ[u]-ub-[bi] UET 7, 73 Sg. letter, Westenholz 1997, 148ff. iv 136 (followed by NAR a-ú “singer of woe” and other entertainers). The text distinguishes between p and b, therefore the word has b (Sjöberg 1996a, 135).

ḥubdû “an official”

1. OB lex. refs. s. CAD H 215 (hubdû in ša ḥubdē)

lú ḥib-da = ša ḥu[b-di-e] OB Lu A 470. S., however, the spelling in MSL 12, 171: 470: lú bar-hu-da = ša bar-[hu-di-im] (the sign ḤŪB is understood as BAR and ḤU there).

2. OB u ḥu-ub-du aššu bēlīya kāta ibaššanni AbB 2, 83: 21 “And ḥubdû-official will come to shame by me because of you, my lord”.

The context assumes that ḥubdû is an official, who has direct influence on the position of the author of the letter, who is prisoner in the house of agrig. The author asks his lord to send some money (half a shekel of silver) or wool (two minas) to ḥubdû, so that he may show his pardon to the author in this misery. CAD B 5 under ba ’aššu B, 1b interprets ḥubdû as a PN that does not seem to suit the context.

NR

+ ḥubušu “bulge”

OB lit. kīma šummunnim ḥu-bu-ú-ša-ki ZA 75, 200: 36 “your two bulges are like a halter”.

ḥuduššu II “frog”

1. OB lit. ḥu-du-šu qablini PRAK 1 B 472 i 12 “the frog(s) of our waist”, a metaphor for the vulva.

2. OB karš[um] šumēlam kīma ḥu-du-ši-i[m] tarik ARM 26/1, 98 2'-4' “the stomach was dark like a frog on the left side”.

*ḥuduštu s. huduššu II.

+ ḥulibu? “a fatty substance?”; LB; Aram. lw.

1 GÍN šiqittu ina ḥu?-li-bi ša KÁ dannu ḤI.HI FS W. G. Lambert 171, 17: 9 (for making a tampon in order to make a barren woman pregnant) “you mix ... 1 shekel of almonds with fatty material (?) from the mouth of a vat”. Finkel id. 172 tentatively connects ḥ. with Aram. ḥēleb “a viscous substance, glair”. Note, however, that the reading of the first sign is uncertain: an alternative reading of Finkel is si-li-bi without any interpretation.

NR

ḥullu, s. ullu III.

ḥultuppû II, + ḥultippû “rod”

SB [k]āšid ḥul-tip-pi-i bēl emūqi ša iṭarradu pīra Jiménez 2017, 304: 21 “who overcomes the rod of the strong man (= the trunk of the elephant?), who chases away the elephant”.

*hummātu (CAD H 234f; AHw. 298 s.v. g/hummātu)

In Camb. 131: 7 read kissat mušen um-ma-a-ta (s. CAD U/W 130f. mng. 4).

JW

ħunzū “lame, limping (?)”

S. disc. Stol 2007, 236.

*ħupħuppu

Read kabkabu “time of the visibility of the stars” (Hrůša 2010, 76, 229; Streck 2017, 598).

JW

ħuppū II s. ħubbū.

ħuppudu II “to blind”

OB lit. ħu-pu-da-at la-ma-[sú] ZA 110, 44 ii 23 “the pro[tective spirit] is blind” (parallel sukkuk ... “deaf is ...” (broken)).

ħūpu I, ħuppu “(wheel) rim; ring”; Ur III

Ur III 1,5 kuš udu é-ri-na gišħu-pu-um 14-kam CUSAS 3, 855: 16 “1,5 waterproof sheep skins (for) 14 wheel rims”. More ref. in CUSAS 6, 263. For the use of sheep skins for wheel rims s. Waetzoldt, RIA 11, 216.

NR

ħupū, + ħubū “wisp of a cloud”

NA ħu-bi-a ītarim SAA 8, 384: 1 “(if the day) becomes covered with a wisp of a cloud”.

MPS/TS

ħupurtu s. upurtu.

ħurāṣu “gold”

ħurbabillu “chameleon (?)”

NA kī šīri [ša] ħur-ba-bil-li liggamrū SAA 2, 6: 593 “(may your flesh and the flesh of your women, your brothers, your sons and your daughters) be used up like the flesh of a chameleon”. Cf. ša ħur-ba-bil-li ligmrū SAA 2, 15: 593.

Disc.: SED II 140–141 (cf. arab. ħirbā’).

JW

ħurbāšu “chills, shivers”

OB lit. ħu-ur-[ba-š]u ḥillu [iš]ṣū qīštim FM 14, 18 ii 41 “the trees of the forest are shivers (and) shade”.

MPS/TS

ħurdatu II “vulva”

OB lit. luppitma ħu-ur-da-at-ni PRAK 1 B 472 i 13 “touch our vulva!”

ħuribtu “desert”

MA BATSH 4/1: ħu-rib-te 13: 21.

ħuri'u, ħuri'ānu (a spice); Ur III

Ur III 5 sila hu-ri-um CUSAS 1190: 4; hu-ri-[um] CUSAS 3, 1092: 6. More ref. in CUSAS 6, 263.

NR

ḥurpatu “canopy, tarpaulin”

OB 1 ḥu-ur-pa-tum rabītum 16 awīlū 10 qersū 20 awīlū 5 muzzazzū 5 awīlū 14 murudū 2 awīlū ŠU.NIGIN 43 awīlū ša ḥu-ur-pa-tim rabītim FM 3, 65 M.6873 “1 big canopy, 16 men; 10 canopy frames, 20 men; 5 posts, 5 men; 14 lattices, 2 men. Together: 43 men for the big canopy”.

ḥurru “hole, mine”

1. Lex. *māt ṣīt 'u-ri*¹ KAL 8, 112 r. 14 (Hg^{E XXI}) “the land of the product of the (copper) mine” (i.e. Magan), cf. KAL 8: 227 n. 14, CAD §, 218a 2²; DCCLT reads māt ṣīt hur¹-ri.
2. SB šēlebu ištu ḥur-ri u[ṣāmma] Jiménez 2017, 381: 7 “the fox c[ame out] of the hole”.
3. SB [ul]tu ḥurri uṣāmma [...i]tūr ana ḥurri Jiménez 2017, 384: 9f. “came out of the hole [...] returned to the hole”.

MTRS (1), MPS (2–3)

ḥuršānu, ḥursānu “mountain(s)”

NA e[ta]nattiq KUR^{meš}-e ḥur-sa-a-ni SAA 9, 9: 10 “I traverse hills and mountains”.

ḥuršu “storehouse”

OB ērub i-ḥu-ur-ši-im ALL no. 1 i 2 “I entered the storehouse”.

ḥuttutu “infested”

S. also ḥatītān, ḥatītu, muḥattitu.

ḥuya' u?, hu'a/u, a'u “a kind of owl”

OB [ḥu?]l-a-a-um^{mušen} Edubba'a 7, 100: 31 (in list of birds). The onomatopoeic word is probably a variant of ḥū'a/u (or ḥu'a) “eine Eulenart” AHw. 350. This is supported by the following entry a-še-bi-im, variant of eššebu, another kind of owl. Al-Rawi/Dalley 2000, 105 read the first sign as [u₈] but suggest on p. 107 the same connection with ḥu'a. The preceding line 30 probably contains with a-[ú?]l-um^{mušen} another variant of the same word, and the entry following a-še-bi-im, [x-]ia^{mušen} l. 33, might be another (spelling) variant.